Raízen's winning proposal of eight hundred twenty-three million reais (R$823,000,000.00) contemplates only the two UPI Tonon production units, with no succession of debts and obligations of the Tonon Group, in accordance with the court-supervised reorganization plan.

The two mills included in UPI Tonon are located in the cities of Bocaina and Brotas, in the state of São Paulo, a region where Raízen already operates, and have combined annual crushing capacity of approximately 5.5 million tons of sugarcane.

If the operation is concluded, Raízen expects to operate a total annual crushing capacity of approximately 73 million tons of sugarcane.
